Decorative Owl

This month Helen Havemann will teach carving a decorative owl. It is a project suitable for beginning or intermediate carvers. The owl blank comes with beads and hardware. Bring your v-tools, gouges and carving knife.

Vice President's Message

We will continue our successful monthly classes at the June meeting with Helen Havemann teaching a decorative owl. The class, as always, will start at 9 a.m. so be on time and find a place at the instruction table.

Our thanks are extended to Mike Crosson for teaching the “grape leaf” with grapes at the May meeting. He had a full class and most appeared to have finished the project by closing.

For the July class, Fred Childers stepped forward to teach a fan carving. This project will be an angel blowing a trumpet. A show of hands at the May meeting indicated 10 of our members were interested in the class. We will get another count at the June meeting. Fred needs the count so he will have a sufficient number of carving blanks for the class.

Here is another reminder that our 2019 HAWC Show, Sale and Competition is approaching. The date is October 19—third Saturday of October—at Faith Lutheran Church. There will be three days of classes starting at 9 a.m.

President's Message

Time to stay out of the heat and humidity and get some carving done in a nice cool place. I hope that you have one!

If you need wood or a particular tool while you are working on your summer project, remember the businesses who are sponsors of our annual show.

Rockler Woodworking and Hardware located at 3265 SW Freeway or at 21352 Kyukendahl Rd.

Woodcraft of Houston North at 235 Cypress Creek Parkway (FM1960)

Woodcraft of Houston Southwest at 11707 Sam Houston Parkway West

Houston Hardwoods at 4910 W 34th Street

These retailers need to know that we appreciate their support. Please let them know that you are a HAWC member and thank them for their sponsorship.

Good carving and see you on Saturday for the HAWC monthly meeting when Helen will hold her decorative owl seminar.

Wednesday, October 16 followed by Thursday and Friday at the same time. Faith Lutheran Church is located at the southwest corner of Bellaire Blvd. and Avenue B in Bellaire. The corner is the first stop light inside Loop 610 West.

As previously announced, the instructors will be Orlando Villarreal and Wanda Reichert. Orlando will offer three different projects for his class—a Marlin bust, an Eagle head bust and an Elk head bust. Wanda will teach an Orca whale. Danny also will join Wanda at the show with various carving supplies, especially wood.

A third instructor has made a late entrance. Dallas Deege will teach faces. His class will include carving a face, as well as instructions on the various features to consider when carving a face.

Show packets will be going out before the end of June. The packet will include, table registration forms, class registration, carving completion categories, judging standards and a box lunch form.
