Eagle Bolo with Ronnie Boston

This Saturday Ronnie Boston will teach us to carve an Eagle bolo. See the photos.

President's Message

For past several months, dating back to 2020, the President's message has discussed HAWC's 50th Annual Show, Sale and Competition. This message will continue the Show discussion.

Consider this discussion as an important reminder, especially since it will be the last one prior to the Show. As previously stated, the Show will be held at Faith Lutheran Church, 4600 Bellaire Blvd. The Show is scheduled for Saturday October 16, preceded by four carving classes set for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday (Oct. 13, 14 and 15)

As for class instructors and projects, Wanda Reichert will teach relief carving, Carolyn Halbrook will teach chip carving and lettering, Dallas Deege will teach face carving, and Lance Rath will teach a bear project.

Show registrations need to be turned in pronto as we close in on the cutoff date of September 25. As we stand now, total registrations are behind the sign ups received at this point in previous years, and fewer than we need. As a result, planning for important pre-Show projects have been delayed.

At this date, most of the membership is aware Lorraine Lewis was admitted to St. Luke's hospital in the Medical Center with a stroke. As the week ended (9/10), there was no further word on her health except she was still in the hospital. Once additional information on her health becomes available, the membership will be notified by email. Still, we move forward with our regular meeting schedule. The September meeting is set for the 18th. Ronnie Boston will teach the monthly class. The project is an Eagle bolo.

President's Message

The raffle is one of the popular parts of the Show for members and visitors. Donations for the raffle are being accepted so bring your raffle donations to the September meeting.

Here's a reminder from last month's President's message. HAWC has a new email address.

Carolyn Smith reports the new email is houstonwoodcarvers@yahoo.com.

com.

Here's one more subject that needs to be mentioned. The December meeting has traditionally consisted of a Christmas lunch and a gift exchange, although last December we had the gift exchange without the lunch. Several members have suggested we follow last December's format one more year. We will discuss this temporary change during the business portion of the September meeting.

We are slowly getting our meeting attendance back to normal. Encourage your member and non-member friends to attend the September meeting.

See you September 18, Buddy

Show and Tell

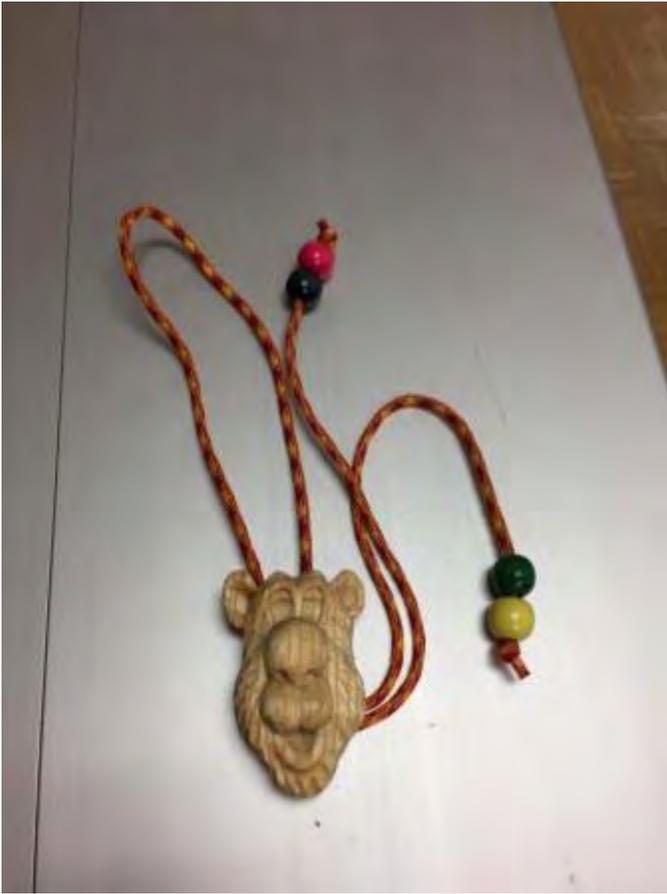

Ronnie found these boxes (blanks) at an estate sale; Randall Clements carved this one and donated it to the raffle.
